First fire truck will lead parade for day-long Fiesta

by Quien Sabe

The schedule for the day-long "Fiesta de los Amigos" in Carmel Valley is all set.

The Fiesta Parade will assemble at the Plaza Building on Del Fino Pl. at 11:30 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 24, with the cavalcade starting to move at noon.

Carmel's first fire truck, driven by Carmel Valley Volunteer firemen, will lead. Then will come the Monterey County Sheriff's Posse and all mounted groups, with Grand Marshal Tom Verga and honorary Grand Marshal Joe Hitchcock in the lead.

Celebrities, dignitaries and Valley old-timers will ride antique cars, and music groups in the march will include Marty Artellan's "Accordianettes" and a high school band with others yet undisclosed.

The Kiddy Parade with pets included may steal the show.

There will be a blessing of the parade by representatives of the various Valley churches, presentation of parade prizes, and the children will be loaded aboard hay wagons before the parade goes up the hill to officially open the Fiesta at Holman's Guest Ranch. In the rodeo grounds area will be fun and foods for children, including booths that feature snow cones and sweet treats; Mexican and Spanish hats; a variety of games; hamburgers and hot dogs; a pony cart ride; a make-up booth for a "Zorro" moustache or rouged cheeks; Bingmobiles for more food, etc.

Farther up the way, within the lovely hacienda and its patio and plaza (ordinarily the parking lot) will be found Manuel Campos and his strolling Mariachi band, wine tasting, informal modeling by local shops, a swim show by the Cypress Swim Club and junior life saving class, a conducted house tour of "La Casa Escondida," a program of folk and square dances in costume as well as informal Mexican dances by Carmel Valley family groups.

STARS OF "FIESTA de los AMIGOS" include artists Al Parker and Marlinde von Ruhs who are getting in the spirit of the Spanish Fiesta scheduled Sept. 24 at Holman's Guest Ranch. They are getting acquainted with the pet, stuffed parrot of Mrs. C. E. Holman, whose affection for the parrot when alive compelled her to preserve its beauty with the help of a taxidermist. Marlinde and Al have been joined by cartoonist Frank O'Neal as judges of the beard contest, which is currently producing an impressive crop of foliage on the chops of local characters.

Upper Valley Advisory Committee again rejects condominium plan

Although the units had been reduced from 50 to 40, the proposed condominium beside Rancho Del Monte Country Club was rejected by the Upper Valley Advisory Committee Monday afternoon.

Vote was four against, with two members disqualifying themselves, Lou Gardner because of part ownership in other property with applicant Larry Cummings, and Skip Marquard because of an interest in the mortgage on the property in question.

The application is scheduled for hearing before the county planning commission next Wednesday, Sept. 7.

Reasons for denial by the Advisory Committee included "not compatible with immediate, high-quality residential neighborhood, which would depress its value." Design and density were also criticized.

VOTER REGISTRATION

League of Women Voter registration for voters is scheduled at Carmel Rancho Safeway store Sept. 2 and 9, from 3 to 6 p.m., and Sept. 15, from 5 to 8.

Sale-A-Rama

A half-price Sale-A-Rama is scheduled again by Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church Friday, Sept. 2, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Kiwanis Club sees Life–saving demonstration at Valley pool

Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club enjoyed a first-hand tour of the CV Community swimming pool and a life-saving demonstration, following the club's meeting Tuesday noon at Los Laureles Lodge.

Manager Ken White of the pool, who is swim coach at Monterey High during the winter, revealed that free swimming lessons for 580 youngsters had been given this summer, more than double the previous summer.

As an unexpected climax to the demonstration, White was tossed into the pool by the group of young swimmers. Swim team coach Mike Largent quickly followed in the same manner.

Kiwanians first witnessed an impressive clothing drill by life guards Craig Tetgmeier, Doug Updike and Candy Gregory. Next Updike demonstrated fancy dives. The two fellows also showed how to get out of strangle holds in the water.

A swimming race show was staged by Christine and Lisa Brill, Donna Condren, Laura "Froggy" Harris, David and Lynda Raynes and Warren Wilson.

Quick action prevents serious fire damage

CV Fire Chief Chip Collins credited quick action of three men trained in fire fighting, who happened to be near by, with preventing a cabin fire Saturday on Mike Dormody's San Clemente Ranch development from spreading through the forested mountain area.

Lou Allaire, a member of CV Volunteer Fire Dept; Jake May, former Carmel volunteer fireman, and Assistant Monterey Police Chief Bob Trenner put in an encircling fire break, holding the blaze which destroyed Gene Rettig's cabin.

CV Firemen also answered mutual aid calls over the weekend to help state fire fighters extinguish a quarter acre grass fire on the Bob Wilson property on Rancho Chupinos and a false alarm on CV Road near the Tassajara cutoff.

Middle School class schedules in the mails

Student class-schedules are to be mailed today to Carmel Middle School pupils, Principal Orville Rogers announced this week.

Any student missed in the schedule-mailing is asked to report to the school cafeteria Tuesday before school begins at 8:20 a.m.

Students new to the district, for grades 5 through 8, may register this week daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the school office.

"With one year of experience behind us at the Middle School," Rogers said, "we feel better prepared to pursue two big problems about which we were concerned last year. The first was tightening up of supervision of students, and the second was building up school spirit."

Eight new teachers, all replacements, will join the Middle School faculty this fall.

Drama has been added as an elective course.

Physical education classes, which Rogers said were too big last year, are being reduced in size by addition of two teachers' aides, a college woman to help with the girls and a college man to assist with the boys.

Reading will be taught as "ungraded" courses for 5th and 6h classes, which means there will be no subdivisions according to ability, but all will be lumped together.

Better scheduling, Rogers said, will result in smaller English classes. While six teachers handled 150 students a day last year, this year six plus another teacher for two periods, will handle 125 students.

The Principal said there is no longer the worry about the 5th graders. Last year there was concern, he explained, that 5th graders would feel lost as a result of switching from the single-room plan to changing from room to room for different classes.

Jr. AAU champs at 'Aqua-Spectacular'

JR. NATIONAL AAU CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM of synchronized swimmers from the Howell Swim School in Danville has been featured on many national telecasts. They will appear in person, swimming the routines with which they won the national titles, this weekend when the Cypress Swim Club presents its annual "Aqua-Spectacular," at the Monterey Peninsula College pool, Saturday and Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Admission to the fund-raising performance is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 15.

Groundbreaking ceremonies on Sunday for new Community Church

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new building of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula will be held this Sunday, Sept. 4, at 11 a.m. on the church site, nine-tenths of a mile up Carmel Valley Rd. from Highway 1, near the Carmel Middle School.

Complimentary luncheon will be served at 12 noon for everyone attending the service in connection with the groundbreaking.

A tent and chairs and plenty of parking are promised.

No service at River School is scheduled that day, the Rev. Burkert Cree, minister, announced.

Fall quarter of the church school is slated to open Sept. 18 at 9:45 a.m. at River School. Its director is Frank Keith, assistant headmaster of the Robert Louis Stevenson School.

The Rhyming Philosopher

School is a necessary evil, which,
While no one knows who invented it,
Blooms in a sort of medieval niche;
But only God could have prevented it.

School is what comes in between vacations
So kids have to dress up and put shoes on,
Besides giving teachers occupations
To carry on this dreary delusion.

School can provide an opportunity
To contact new boys and girls and others;
But also to exact some immunity
From chores inflicted by dads and mothers.

School is supposed to inculcate knowledge
Wedged in between the football games and gym;
But those who really want to go to college
Have learned its solely up to her or him.

The one who studies homework gets to know,
And what he knows is carded on reports.
So let's abolish class and only go
To just meet friends and take in all the sports.

Enthusiasm grows as attractive Shopping Center nears completion

Crocker-Citizens Bank signs lease for Mid-Valley site

Crocker-Citizens National Bank has leased space in the Carmel Valley Shopping Center to house its seventh office in Monterey county, it was announced by Emmett G. Solomon, president of the bank.

Solomon said that the bank has just signed a lease with the developers of the center, George M. Clemens, Norman J. Craft and Paul E. Porter.

The bank will occupy 4,000 square feet of a free-standing building to be erected near the northeast corner of the property at the intersection of Carmel Valley Road and Berwick Drive.

As designed by Carmel architect Olaf Dahlstrand, the building will be of stucco, trimmed with redwood panels and roofed with redwood shakes.

It will be equipped with eight teller windows, full vault and safe-deposit facilities and a drive-up window on the Carmel Valley Road side of the structure.

OPEN EARLY '67

Solomon estimated that construction of the building will get under way in the near future and that it will be completed early next year.

The planned facility will be the first new office in the Monterey Peninsula for the bank since 1960, when its Pebble Beach office was opened. Its offices in Carmel, Monterey, Pacific Grove and Seaside became a part of the Crocker-Citizens' banking system in 1959.

The association of the Crocker family with the area, however, goes back to the late 19th century when Charles Crocker, one of the founders of the Central Pacific Railroad, purchased the extensive holdings that later became the Del Monte properties.

The late Mrs. Henry Potter Russell, a granddaughter of Charles Crocker and a director of Crocker-Citizens until her recent death, purchased with her husband 40 years ago the 1,400 acre Double H ranch in Carmel Valley. She bequeathed the ranch to her son, Charles. H. Russell, and thus the family's link with the Valley has been maintained.

Materials shortage causes delay in Shopping Center opening

Construction is moving along fast on the new Carmel Valley Shopping Center in the Mid-Valley.

Although a shortage of materials due to the Vietnam war slowed the schedule somewhat, fixtures and equipment are being installed in the new Safeway store in anticipation of an early October opening.

Well under way is the new Standard Oil service station, expected to open about Oct. 1.

The Valley Cinema has been forced to move back its gala opening, originally announced as Aug. 31, to early in November. Featuring family-type movies, the new cinema is affiliated with the Hill and Steinbeck Theatres.

Progress is also moving fast on the new Steinmetz Pharmacy to be located in the new center.

Architectural plans are in progress for the Crocker-Citizens bank structure, which is expected to go to bid in mid-September.

Leases for other businesses are also being negotiated.

The three developers — George Clemens, Jack Craft and Paul Porter—report that Valley people are voicing enthusiasm over the attractiveness of the architectural design and structural excellence of the $2 million project. The handsome shopping center features a cluster of low-lying buildings which pick up the characteristic warm color and horizontal flow of the Valley.

"Precast concrete wall panels and arcade columns," said architect Olaf Dahlstrand, "are adobe colored and topped with shake roof to blend in with the natural beauty of the surroundings. Wall panels and columns feature both smooth and aggregate finish, with geometric design patterns to add interest and contribute distinctive archetectural character to the buildings."

CUSD reverses decision to curtail school bus service

Good news for students and parents was the reversal of previous curtailment, and restoration of school bus service by the Carmel school board last week.

Instead of bus service only for students living more than seven miles from school, the new action returns service beyond two miles, as formerly.

Middle School students living in Carmel and Mission Fields will again also get bus service because of the hazard of crossing Highway 1. Bus schedule appears elsewhere in this issue.

Dr. Harris Taylor, new district superintendent, recommended the return to the old bus schedule because, he explained, it would only cost the district only $4,200 more which need not come out of the educational costs.

Also on his recommendation, the high school library is to be given the additional space of the old music room, an improvement which won't cost anything.

"This is a temporary, stopgap solution," Dr. Taylor added. "The library situation is not good. We are going to have to face it some time."

The board rejected the request of Carmel jeweler Dan Crosby, who lives just outside the district in Pebble Beach, for his child to attend a Carmel kindergarten. Although he was willing to pay the cost personally, the board feared it "would set a dangerous precedent."

Outlook On Carmel

CARMEL VALLEY OUTLOOK August 31, 1966

Annual Fiesta set for Oct. 9 at historic Mission

The colorful fiesta and barbecue which traditionally celebrates the feast day of San Carlos de Borromeo has been scheduled for Oct. 9, and will again take place in the courtyard of the historic Carmel Mission.

This year's fiesta will be the first that the Mission's pastor, Bishop Harry Clinch, has been able to attend. Bishop Clinch, who has been in Rome participating in sessions of the Ecumenical Council during previous feistas, is looking forward to being here for the feast day, and has commented that the spirit of brotherhood fostered by the historic community festival is very much in harmony with today's ecumenical trends.

Fiesta goers have learned to expect a full afternoon of entertainment with a Spanish flavor, including a feast of barbecued chicken following the morning mass and procession to the courtyard.

Carmel man awarded bronze star

LT. COL. EDWIN M. RUDZIS of Oliver Rd., Carmel, Marine Corps representative of the Naval Postgraduate School (left) shakes hands with Rear Adm. E.J. O'Donnell, NPGS superintendent, who has just presented him with a Bronze Star for action in Vietnam. Also pictured are Mrs. Rudzis and three of their children, Suzan, 14, John, 10, and Therese, 4. Col. Rudzis was cited for his actions while serving as commander of the Fourth Battalion of the 12th Marine Regiment in Vietnam. He personally conducted reconnaissance missions deep into enemy territory to select advantageous positions for his artillery.

Carmel artists create award for Dave Brubeck

Jazz pianist Dave Brubeck, who will be back as usual for the Monterey Jazz Festival this month, will no doubt visit Gallery Carmel during the festivities, which are Sept. 16, 17 and 18 at the fairgrounds.

This is because metal sculptors Gary Cartwright and Malcolm Moran of Gallery Carmel were the artists commissioned to produce an imaginative sculpture which was presented to Brubeck for the University of the Pacifc Distinguished Alumnus Award this spring.

The highest honor the University can give any of its graduates, the award was presented to Brubeck during the University of the Pacific's Distinguished Alumnus Awards Banquet at Stockton in April.

Brubeck was pleasantly surprised by the personal appearance and congratulations of Stan Kenton and the telephoned congratulations of other famous musicians, including Louis Armstrong, Duke Ellington, Carmen McRae and Peter, Paul and Mary.

John Dennis, a classmate of Brubeck's at UOP and now a professor at San Francisco State, declared: "He had to be a musician, this serious young student with the big hands who had to learn to count at the piano."

Dean J. Russell Bodley, who had the jazz artist as a pupil, recalled how Brubeck "had the windows jumping" in an improvisation of Schumann that "would have surprised Schumann."

New CHS students urged to attend testing, orientation meetings

This Thursday is the beginning day of activity for new students to Carmel High School, other than those who attended Carmel Middle School last year.

Tests will be given new students Thursday from 9 to 11 a.m. at Brey Hall.

"Since these tests are mandatory," Principal Warren W. Edwards said, "students are urged to take them at this time and avoid being taken from class work to make up the tests after school starts."

New students will then have an orientation meeting the same afternoon, Thursday, from 1 to 3 in the gymnasium. "New students are urged to attend this important meeting to receive information from the faculty and student leaders," Edwards added.

A freshman class meeting may follow the orientation meeting.

First day of school, next Tuesday, will begin at 8 a.m. with a meeting of all students on the football field.

Individual schedules of classes will be distributed then and students will attend a full day of classes. Because of complications connected with scheduling, students will not be allowed to change classes after school starts until Monday, Sept. 12.

With a great deal of sadness, goodbyes were said last week to Dr. and Mrs. Keith White by the many friends they had made during their four year residency at the Hastings Reservation. Manitowok, Wisconsin will be the new home of the White family where Keith will return to teaching in the botany department at the University of Wisconsin. Later he will transfer to Green Bay where a four-year center is in the building process. The other members of the popular family who contributed so many hours to the betterment of our community are Robin, Sayward, Starker, Dana and Paula. The Whites hope to return in the summer months to some of the nearby research centers, but in the meantime will enjoy living near Betty's family who are in Milwaukee.

The Benefit Bridge and Canasta Club sponsored by the Guild of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel met last week at the Nido Way home of Mrs. Irwin T. Johnson. Her co-hostess was Miss Sarah Oppenheimer. Assisting was Mrs. Johnson's house guest, Mrs. Moore of Texas. First and second prizes were won by Mrs. Gordon Brown and Mrs. Amanda Munsaker. High in canasta went to Jenny Clark. Sixteen tables of guests enjoyed the afternoon of cards, dessert and coffee.

New residents on West Carmel Valley Road in the home referred to as part of "the old Hatton ranch" are Mr. and Mrs. Don Wiley and their handsome poodle. Former residents of Auburn, Mr. Wiley was transferred to the Peninsula by Granite Construction Company to serve as an engineer on the new freeway. The Wileys were surprised to learn that the Miss Hatton who had formerly occupied their present home had been a fellow teacher of Don's mother.

Much happiness to Dr. and Mrs. Toland Doud and daughters Laurie, Lindy and Marian who have recently moved into their new home on Laurel Drive. The Doud family formerly lived on Merrill Way.

That blue flag flying at the Plaza Linda Restaurant announces a new grandson has arrived for Jenny and Dean Diaz. Mr. and Mrs. Dean Diaz, Jr., have named their son and first child Robert Dean. He arrived Aug. 6 at the Salinas Memorial Hospital. His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Espinosa of Watsonville. Great grandparents celebrating Robert Dean's arrival are Mrs. J.L. Casarez of Salinas and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Espinosa, Sr., of Castroville.

Mrs. Elsie Whitney has sold her home on El Echo Way and moved to Los Gatos...Christmas can never be the same in Carmel Valley. Her exquisite holiday decorations brought so much happiness and pleasure to young and old alike that it seemed only fitting and proper to hear a very young Valleyite refer to her in loving awe as "our lady of Christmas." Mrs. Whitney will be near her son and daughter-in-law and three grandchildren. The youngest who arrived in June has been named Joshua Slocum Whitney.

Mrs. Karl Kunz and daughter, Dani, have recently returned from a visit with family and friends in San Diego. Accompanying them was Mrs. Kunz's mother, Mrs. Mary Simas, who had been in the Valley for a four-week visit. While there, they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Simas, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Pitts, and Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Marcella. Prior to their visit in San Diego, Mrs. Kunz with her children, Dani and Rusty, and Mrs. Gilbert Sweet of Country Club Drive and her children, Becky and Jeff, vacationed on Oregon's Spring River in the Deschutes National Forest. Recent house guests at the Kunz home have been old Navy friends, Adm. and Mrs. Chuck Tribel who now make their home in Washington, D.C.

New residents on Lower Circle are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lambert and daughters, Wendy and Becky, who have rented the Minium home, #19. Betty and daughters recently returned from a visit with her family near Los Angeles. The highlight of the vacation for the girls was their visit to Knott s Berry Farm. Occupying the former Lambert residence on West Carmel Valley Road are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Guthrie.

The 35 children registered in the summer recreation program at Tularcitos School will have many happy memories of the excellent craft program, trampoline and tumbling, the pet show, and last week's "Ladies and gentlemen, may we present the worst show on earth"...a circus! Lorna Craig was mistress of ceremonies. Popcorn was served to the audience by Tim McFadden. Mrs. Philip Cuny and Miss Louise La Mothe were co-directors. Louise is returning to Stanford where she is an honor student in history. Maj. and Mrs. Philip Cuny and daughters, Eve and Claudette, are moving to Santa Clara where Ann will enter San Jose State. She recently obtained her associate of arts degree at Monterey Peninsula College. A popular instructor at the community swimming pool since its opening, Ann will surely be missed in the recreation department. Maj. Cuny has been assigned to the Army Air Defense in Colorado. Their Valley home was on Via Contenta.

Double ring ceremony unites Davis, Wade

A pretty summer morning ceremony at the Carmel Valley Community Chapel was attended by families and close friends of Miss Sandra Jean Davis and Robert Wade (Mike) Conley.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Don Johnson. White carnations, stock and gladioli were used to decorate the chapel.

Mr. Merle Davis gave his daughter in marriage. Miss Joanne Gross served as Sandra's attendant. Her blue crepe sheath was complimented by a matching headbow and veil. Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white carnations tipped in blue.

The bride wore an imperial gown of peau de lin with reappliqued Venetian lace adorning the bodice, skirt and detachable panel. A pearl crown held the three-tiered shoulder length veil. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of stephanotis and carnations.

Bill Satrini was best man. The guests were seated by Robert Henricks.

A honeymoon trip to San Francisco and Sacramento followed the buffet luncheon at the Carmel Valley Inn.

Home gardeners invited to MPC Lecture series

"How to Get the Most Out of Your Gardening," a special program for the amateur and home gardener, will open Friday, Sept. 16, at Monterey Peninsula College.

Six sessions, to be held every other Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the library lecture hall on campus, will feature speakers on a variety of timely subjects, according to coordinator Harry Diffenbaugh.

Topics covered will include: "Bedding Plants for Winter Bloom," Sept. 16; "Fall Lawn Care," Sept. 30; "Ground Covers for the Monterey Peninsula," Oct. 14; "Sprinkling Systems in the Garden," Oct. 28; "Planting Bulbs for Spring Bloom," Nov. 11; and "Sprays and Insecticides, Types and Uses," Nov. 18.

A registration fee of $3 is payable to the evening dean at the college for advance reservation by mail or at the first meeting of the series.

The program, which will be followed by a winter and spring program, is a community service project of the Landscape Gardening and Horticulture Advisory Committee to MPC.

Final performance at White Oaks

LAST SHOW—Mary Pattie (above with John O'Connell) does her farewell performances at White Oaks Theatre this weekend when she appears in final presentations of "Stop the World, I Want to Get Off," Thursday through Sunday at 8:30 p.m. After five winter and summer seasons with the theatre and its training centre, Miss Pattie and her husband, White Oaks general manager Ron Mitchell, will be working in the entertainment business in the Los Angeles area.

Studio Theatre announces winter productions

Following the closing of its summer season with the final performance of "The Fantasticks" on Sept. 4, the Studio Theatre & Restaurant in Carmel will open its fall and winter season on Thursday, Sept. 8, with the comedy "Never Too Late."

Next, the Studio will produce "The Little Foxes," a revival of the Lillian Helman drama; "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," the musical that ran nearly 1000 performances on Broadway; "Catch Me if You Can," a mystery with a double surprise ending; "Arsenic and Old Lace" which has not been seen here in some years; and "Barefoot in the Park" if it is released during the coming season. Produced at intervals of six to seven weeks, the shows will be offered on weekends from September through June.

Next summer the Studio will produce "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" as one of two shows which will alternate during July and August. The second is still to be selected.

Michael Keller, resident director of the Studio, said that shows could be subject to change depending upon unforeseen production problems. He also invited an expression of interest in occasional Sunday matinees for the convenience of playgoers who prefer not to be out at night.

During the fall and winter season, the Studio will be open daily except Monday for luncheon, and on weekends will offer patrons a choice of dinner and theatre or theatre only.

Museum of Art Assn. discusses final goals

The name of the Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the American Federation of Arts was officially changed to the MONTEREY PENINSULA MUSEUM OF ART ASSOCIATION following the recent meeting of the board of trustees.

Leonard Heller, president and one of the original 17 charter members who formed the organization in October o 1959, said the change in name is an important step in clarifying the goals and purposes of the group, which is to establish and maintain a permanent art museum on the Monterey Peninsula.

"We intend to build an adequate museum to house our permanent collection, art library, workshop facilities and other museum activities," Heller said, "and we are working locally toward our goal with Cultural Arts, Inc., Monterey Peninsula College, the Monterey History and Art Association and the Arts Coordinating Council of Monterey County. During a recent visit here, members of the California Arts Commission agreed that the number one priority and most positive need in this area is the establishment of a permanent museum of art."

Heller also explained that the organization will continue to be a chapter of the national American Federation of Arts as well as a member of the Western Association of Art Museums and the American Association of Museums.

Plaguing the local AFA chapter in the past has been the view held by many county citizens that the group was an artists' union rather than a non-profit corporation dedicated to furthering the interests and development of the visual arts. The past activities of the group have included 73 exhibitions, 52 workshops for adults and children, 40 lectures, 14 bus tours to museums in other cities and eight international dinners.

Membership is now over 1,100. The operating budget of $22,000 annually goes to maintain its Lincoln Street gallery in Carmel and to support various art oriented activities. The Carmel gallery exhibits a new show each month and activities include the annual competitive Monterey County Painting Exhibition in October at which $900 in prizes are awarded to Monterey county painters.

Operating funds are obtained through several annual fund raising events, a spring Serendipity sale, artists' studio open house held in July, and the December Christmas creations show. Local business and individual sponsors and membership dues also help to defray some expenses. The organization, as yet, has no large corporation or foundation support.

Mrs. Robert Stanton of Carmel Valley was the last of the 30 members needed to sign the certificate of ammendment legally changing the name of the organization. Mrs. Stanton, a member of the board of trustees, is planning to resign from the board in order that her husband, Robert Stanton, may become a trustee.

White Oaks staff entertained

Members of the White Oaks Theatre summer staff and company were the guests of hosts John and Graeme Harrison of the Carmel Valley Inn. Wednesday afternoon's party included eats, swimming, volleyball, and lots of bridge around the pool.

Chamber music at White Oaks

Thirty musicians, all members of the California Chamber Ensemble of Los Angeles, join forces with White Oaks Theatre's musical company for four presentations of Mozart's comic work, "Cosi fan Tutte," next week, Sept. 8-11.

The Ensemble will also be seen in a concert Sunday afternoon, 2:30, at White Oaks.

Performed in English, "Cosi" is being directed and conducted by Chris Nance and staged by Shirley Eoff.

Tickets and information for both events are available at White Oaks Theatre.

Singers invited to audition for Monterey Peninsula Choral Society

The Monterey Peninsula Choral Society will start its new season with registration and first full rehearsal set for Wednesday, Sept. 7, according to director John Gosling.

This well-known performing group, remembered for its traditional performances of the Bach Christmas Oratorio during the Holy season at the Basilica of Mission San Carlos de Borromeo, will meet every Wednesday, starting Sept. 7, from 7 to 10 p.m., at the Monterey High School Choral Room (use Logan Lane entrance.) Placement auditions will be held at this time for new and prospective members.

Mr. Gosling, recently returned from an extensive European conducting and study tour, will outline the '66-'67 season's performances

Mrs. John Beahan, president of the Choral Society, has extended an invitation to all men and women who enjoy singing in a group to attend this first meeting and join the 80 voice chorus. For further information, call Mrs. Beahan at 624-2838 or Mrs. Claudine Van Fleet at 624-8170.

Places to go

There are fascinating rock formations all over.

PFEIFER BEACH IS PUBLIC, BEAUTIFUL, A

At the northwestern end of the beach, near Cooper Point, a fine spot for surf-casting when the wind is quiet.

Just in the last few years, the fearsome waves have tunneled this cave through the base of one of the two great rocks in the center of the beach.

A determined old cypress, in the grove near the parking area.

It requires a strong effort of will to tell you about this. After all, every Californian dreams of finding a piece of wild, public land to call his own. A place where he can camp, or fish, or picnic, or retreat to without fear of landowner or the madding throng.

Pfeifer Beach in Big Sur country is just such a place, and only lofty altruism compels us to pass the word to our readers. (If we had the Northern California circulation of the Chronicle, it's doubtful if altruism would prevail. In this case, it's easier to love a few thousand subscribers than a few hundred thousand.)

Although we've implied it, Pfeifer Beach is not totally unknown. We were down there one Memorial Day weekend several years ago, and there were 12 to 15 people scattered around the one mile of ocean front and 200 acres of public land. But nobody stepped on our lunch or kicked sand on the blanket – it was a polite mob.

It may seem surprising that Pfeifer is so little used, especially when one reflects that Pfeifer State Park and Campgrounds, open and used heavily all year around, is only a couple of miles away. The beach is even mentioned in literature handed to campers and picnickers as they pay their fees. One circumstance, however, keeps Pfeifer Beach isolated. Although it's part of the Los Padres National Forest, the only access is across private land and down two and a half miles of a somewhat bumpy private dirt road.

Past owners have not been exceptionally hospitable. A one-dollar fee has always been charged for access, and the State Park literature notes that the owner may refuse access if he decides he doesn't want too many of us great unwashed crossing his land, but the situation has changed for the better in the last few years.

The present owner is Mr. Jan Brewer, and he still charges a dollar, but for a sound reason. "The public is entitled to the use of public lands," he told us by phone. "When I first acquired the property, we didn't think it right to charge a dollar for access to public beach, but other landowners along the dirt road balked at maintaining it, so we went back to charging the dollar, but it goes into a fund for paving. As a matter of fact, we'll start paving one stretch of it in late summer or early fall this year."

It's rare to find a landowner in Big Sur Country who doesn't feel that he owns the beach, just because he owns land up to the beach. "The public takes care of things properly," he told us, and he didn't even add the usual phrase about a few hoodlums spoiling it for everybody else.

If and when you do go to Pfeifer Beach, it wouldn't be a bad idea at all to contribute an extra dollar or two – whatever you can afford – to Mr. Brewer's road-paving fund. He did try to interest the State Park people in paving the road, but they turned it down, probably because the beach is owned by the Federal government. (They may be interested in maybe five years, if an exchange deal is consummated that would give ownership of Pfeifer Beach to the state, according to Mr. Robert Mace, Assistant Chief of the Branch of Recreation Planning, U.S. Forest Service, San Francisco.)

The first sight of Pfeifer Beach, after parking your car and walking 40 to 50 yards.

The southern end of the beach, near Pfeifer Point.

AND DESERTED

Here's how to get there. Drive a mile or two south of the main entrance to Pfeifer State Park on State Highway 1 in Big Sur. At the south end of the second highway bridge, look for a small, handpainted sign that says "Pfeifer Beach" with an arrow directing you to the right down a dirt road. The road takes you 2½ miles down Sycamore Canyon, and just this side of the beach, a small sign in front of an old farmhouse will ask that you stop and honk your horn. If you're lucky, a very pretty young lady named Doris Howard will come out and collect your dollar, and she will then tell you how to drive the last couple of hundred yards to the edge of the beach.

Two cautionary notes:

1) If it's a windy day, forget it, unless you enjoy the drama of 80 mile an hour winds across the beach.

2) Fires, even on the beach, are absolutely forbidden, and you'll understand why as you drive down Sycamore Canyon. Camping, while not expressly forbidden, is discouraged, since campfires are not allowed and there are no sanitary facilities. If you want to camp overnight, and you can't get into Pfeifer Park, which is the usual case during the summer, drive 25 to 30 miles south to either Kirk Creek or Plasket Creek, both Federal campgrounds along the ocean on Highway 1.

Leaving the beach, one returns to the parking area through a grove of cypress.

Looking south, toward Pfeifer Point, in the shadow of the great monolith in the center of the beach. It probably won't take more than a century for the waves to reduce it to a pile of rubble.

Valleyite Nick Skalyo tells his experiences in No. African and European campaigns

NICK SKALYO

Nick Skalyo survived three European-Theater invasions during World War II without a scratch, but then a V2 buzz bomb clobbered his LST ship up the Thames only about 20 miles from London.

Rugged Nick came through again, although 14 of his shipmates didn't survive the mess left by the flying German bomb.

The big LST or "Landing Ship—Tank" was patched up to make it float and then took off under tow of a tug for New York.

Across the Atlantic behind a tug took a little more than a month. And there was a typhoon to cap the climax.

"It was rough, all right, without power; we wondered about making it a few times," Nick recalled. The storm pushed them back two days, but they finally made it.

IN 4 INVASIONS

Nick was three years in the Navy, most of the time in charge of loading and unloading the LST. It was in the forefront of four different invasions, including North Africa, Italy and Normandy.

Besides American troops, his ship hauled for multiple landings everything from Indian Gurkee troops to pack mules.

Nick was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., and lived there until he was 30. His parents had come to this country from Czechoslovakia. After getting out of the Navy, he accepted the offer of a buddy to come West and manage a grocery store in Corcoran in the Central Valley of California.

A couple of years later he bought his own liquor store in Corcoran. Business flourished, and he bought a second liquor store in Santa Barbara.

His wife, Mary, suffered from hay fever in the San Joaquin Valley, and Nick decided a move to the coast was mandatory. Long-distance management of the Santa Barbara store got too complicated, and he sold it before plans to move there were completed.

HERE 2 1/2 YEARS

About two and a half years ago they made the big move to Carmel Valley. At that time it was possible to transfer liquor licenses about the State, to other counties which had had population booms.

Monterey county had an opening and Carmel Valley looked like a perfect spot to live. So Nick moved his license from Corcoran to here, opening his Village Liquors in its location, Del Fino Place.

"The people here are about as nice as you can find anywhere," Nick commented. "We sure have appreciated their friendliness and the nice welcome and fine business we've had since coming here."

Mary (a Pittsburgh, Pa. girl, they were married in 1941) and Nick make a pleasant team, operating their store which ofers not just liquor but such things as delicatessen items, inexpensive watches and costume jewelry.

Nick has plunged into various organizations in the Village. He's been tagged as treasurer of two, the Lions Club and the Village Committee. He also belongs to the Chamber of Commerce.

Their home is on Country Club Drive.

This week and last Nick has been enjoying showing off his adopted state of California to relatives from Pittsburgh. Last week he gave them a grand tour of the Monterey Peninsula and San Francisco areas. This week he's guiding them about Southern California, including Marine Land, Disneland and San Diego.

His nephew, Air Force Cpl. Paul Skalyo, is headed for Viet Nam, so Nick is going all out to give him a fine time. Other relatives visiting include his two sisters, Mrs. Dolores Koretsky and Mrs. Mary Janice Koretsky; nephew and nieces, Greg, Christie, Karen and Laura.

New Arrival

Proud new grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Dickens, Jr., of E. Garzas Road, Carmel Valley, whose daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Naslund of Salinas, became the new parents of a son Sunday before last. Brian Kenneth Naslund was born at Salinas hospital Aug. 20.

CHS football team turns out for preseason practice

Hopes are high and morale healthy on the gridiron scene at Carmel High School.

This is due to the big first-day turnout of 110 boys Friday.

Included are eight varsity returnees at one end of the lineup and a record number of freshmen, 41, at the important-for-the-future other end of the spectrum. This last compares to a mere eight freshmen last year, a spectacular indication that football is higher than ever in the appreciation of the freshman generation at Carmel High.

"I've high hopes," said Head Coach Bob Walthour, "for a successful season this fall because of the enthusiasm of the players, our coaching staff and the people, too, of Carmel and Carmel Valley."

2 DRILLS DAILY

He and his staff are starting out earnestly, with two drills daily. There's a morning drill from 9 to 11 and another in the afternoon from 1 to 3. "This is for conditioning at first," he explained.

This year's varisty has the prospects of a big boost from last year's excellent JV team, which was undefeated.

Last year's varsity turned in a creditable record of five wins and four losses; all of the defeats were close games, losing by a touchdown or less.

The eight returning varsity gridders, who will give Carmel High a running start towards victories, include Doug Adams and Jack Argust, tackles; Packy Porter and Mike Stapleton, guards; Ty Seeders and Gary Holloway, ends; Roger Folden, fullback; Steve Hall, halfback.

Boosters Club helps finance football team

The big tournout of football-team hopefuls at Carmel High School is good news to the Carmel High Boosters Club, on which football financing depends this year. Pres. Tom Towsley and Vice Pres. Jim Kelsey of the Boosters are promoting all out to sell pre-season season tickets.

For $10 each ticket, admission is offered to all sports all year round at the high school. "This is a bargain," Towsley emphasized, "for it covers all sports, starting with football."

He pointed out that, as a result of the tight financial picture at the school because of the defeat of the bond issue, football will be dependent on success of the Boosters' pre-season ticket sale.

CYCLING SCOUTS from Southern California invaded Carmel Valley and Carmel, after coming by train to Salinas. Here is the energetic group after they hove into Carmel Valley, for the weekend. They include Ginger Schwartz, Kathy Mc Claren, Ruth Bolling, Evelyn Newton, Michelle DeArmitt, Val Kelbley, Susan Talbot, Dorian Torres, Allyson Cizek, Winnie Kelbley, Genese Dopson, Marilyn Anderson, Robin Pulliam, Diana Houghton, Laurie Dyr and Susan Eaglen.

Southern California Girl Scouts pedal their way around Monterey Peninsula

Carmel Valley was invaded by a remarkable troop of energetic Southern California Girl Scouts weekend before last, who earned considerable respect for their variety of activities and pleasant behavior.

Troop 231 or the "Horseygogglers" from Manhattan Beach, arrived in Salinas Aug. 14 with bicycles among their equipment. They cycled across to Monterey to be greeted by Mayor Minnie Coyle and camped the first 4 nights in Whispering Pines Park.

After being adopted by a large black puppy, they toured Monterey and the 17 Mile Dr. in the company of their canine escort.

BIKED TO CV

It took them from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Friday afternoon to bike from Monterey to Carmel Valley Village. They camped at the home of a generous Valleyite who insisted on remaining anonymous

The Girl Scouts explored the Village Saturday and swam in Community Pool. Sunday they enjoyed the Trail and Saddle Club's horse show.

Away on their bikes they pedaled Monday morning to inspect Carmel. They were scheduled to entrain for home last Sunday.

The group's success is due to its remarkable leaders, Mrs. Carl Pulliam, assisted by Mrs. Harold Dye and Mrs. F.V. Torres. A veteran of more than 20 years in Scouting, Mrs. Pulliam has brought groups three other times to the Monterey Peninsula area, although this is her first bicycle trip.

TWO HAZARDS

She and the girls got in condition by making several short trips first. "Our biggest hazards have been trucks and boys," she commented.

The extraordinary activity of the group has included paddling the Colorado River from Blythe to Yuma and making several pack trips in the mountains.

"The Horseygogglers" produced the Gilbert & Sullivan operetta, "Pirates of Penzance," and cut a record, to raise funds for their next expedition, a Christmas vacation trip to Cuernavaca, Mex., which they have been preparing for for three years.

The troop also conducted an inter-racial camp for underprivileged girls in the Santa Monica mountains.

Four of the troop's members are now participating in exchange programs in Norway, Finland, Sweden and North Carolina.

Garden Thoughts

The average soil is composed of 4% organic matter of animal and plant residue, mostly plant material. When these materials are acted upon by the soil organisms, they become humus. This is the residue of micro-organic activity. It is only found on the surface layer of the soil. This humus has the ability to hold water and fertilizer in solution. The decompostion of soil organic matter helps to release nutrients from complex forms into those simpler and more readily available to the plant. So you can see how important it is to add organic matter to the soil. It keeps the soil dynamic and alive. Organic matter is food and food is a storage place of energy. Soil deprived of organic matter is just like an automobile without gasoline.

If you are thinking about putting in a lawn, this is a good time to plan it. Apply peat moss at the rate of three bales per 1000 square feet, and 20 lbs. commercial fertilizer, and then till your plot with a soil tiller. This is satisfactory preparation, but you can do a better job by wetting the soil to about six inches, and then applying cyanamid at the rate of 50 lbs. per 1000 square feet. Fork the surface gently now and then and keep the soil moist for a period of three weeks. The cyanamid kills the weed seeds and turns out to be an excellent fertilizer. It contains 22% nitrogen. Be sure there are no trees or shrubs on the plot. Cyanamid is very toxic at the beginning and might kill your valuable plants. After a lapse of three weeks, it is safe to sow the lawn seed.

Sweet pea seeds can be sown now in a prepared bed. They should be planted about 1" apart and 1" deep. Sweet peas are very vine-like plants, so a net or fence is necessary for their support. There is a new variety called "Knee-Hi Bush" which has been found to be very satisfactory. Its height is 18-24 inches, making the plants a mound of flowers. Protect small plants of either type from birds and insects.

Now is the time to prepare soil for your winter vegetables. Fresh seeds of cabbage, brussel sprouts, broccoli, beets, carrots, lettuce, spinach, radish, and others are available now. Seeds can be planted directly in the rows of the vegetable garden or can be started in wooden flats or seed pots, and then be transferred to the garden. Another way of doing it is to plant a few seeds of each vegetable in small pots made of peat moss. Discard the weak plants and keep the strongest one. Then this pot is planted in the vegetable garden. The roots will penetrate the wall of the pot. which will disintegrate eventually.

The "California Fuchsia" is in bloom now. This is a native plant (zauschneria californica,) which is a perennial groundcover. It forms an attractive gray-green mound about 12 inches high and 2 feet across, spreading even in hard, dry soils by underground runners. The flowers are fuchsia-like funnels of bright scarlet, and make a pleasant contrast to the foliage color. They should be planted in full sun, and it is a valuable plant for its late-summer and early autumn bloom.

11th Annual Trail & Saddle Club Show

Valley horsemen will play host to famous entries in two-day event

Final preparations for the Eleventh Annual Horse Show sponsored by the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club are under way to ensure that this year's show will be the biggest and best yet, Pres. Bob Angell declared.

Beginning this Saturday at 1 p.m. with halter classes and ending Sunday afternoon with gymkhana events at the beautiful club grounds on East Garzas Rd. in Carmel Valley, the Eleventh Annual Horse Show will play host to some of the finest horses in Central California.

Mr. and Mrs. "Buster" Naegle of Hollister will be showing "Beauty Bar" in many English style events. "Beauty Bar" is the granddaughter of the famous "Three Bar." Alita Naegle will show "Rhoda Echols" in many of the western style events.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ballantyne of Carmel Valley have entered "Pitter Pat II," a two-year-old quarter horse in the champion class with a total of 18 AQHA halter points. "Pitter Pat II" took grand champion mare in Lodi this year, and has never placed below third in any show.

Dr. and Mrs. F.C. Burleson of Carmel have entered "Fancyfoot Sun Up," three-year-old grandson of the famous appaloosa "Hands Up." "Fancyfoot Sun Up" took first place in the 1965 Mission Trails Appaloosa Horse Show, as well as first place in the Region Six Appaloosa Show. While "Fancyfoot Sun Up" took fourth at the Salinas Rodeo in the open class this year, he has never placed below second in any appaloosa show.

Owners of Mission Ranch Stables in Carmel will show in the appaloosa class "Apache Dandy," champion all around horse in 1965 for the Idaho-Oregon-Nevada region. They will also show "Nedgmir," an Arab gelding with numerous wins in Washington and Arizona and "Oro Bar," a quarter horse stallion.

"Smokey" Duarte of Aromas has entered "Amigo's Man," the horse of the year in Texas in 1964, and will also show the colt of "Amigo's Man" which has been named for the "Filly Futurity" for 1967. According to Ruth Bishop, Club Horse Show Secretary, many more entries have been received, and late entries may be taken right up to Saturday and Sunday if accompanied by post-entry fees.

Questions concerning entries should be addressed to Ruth Bishop, P.O. Box 521, Carmel Valley, or phone 659-2837 or 659-2313. Judges this year are Richard C. Smith of Chatsworth and Allan Renz of Hollister.

BBQ SATURDAY NIGHT

In addition to the Horse Show events on Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday, the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club will feature the traditional steak barbeque and outdoor dancing from 6:30 on Saturday, and the annual Pancake and Bacon Breakfast beginning at 7:30 a.m. on Sunday.

Also on Sunday, Earl Holt of Hollister will provide an exciting fast-draw demonstration, and the Grand Entry Parade at 1 p.m. will be a thrilling spectacle, offering awards for the largest family group in the parade, the youngest unassisted rider in the parade, and for the entrant farthest from Carmel Valley.

The Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club is encouraging the general public to make plans to spend a delightful Labor Day weekend at the Eleventh Annual Horse Show, one of the finest shows in Central California. Plenty of parking is available on the club grounds at the end of East Garzas Rd. in Carmel Valley. Signs will be posted along Carmel Valley Rd. and Los Laureles Grade to assist those not familiar with the location of the club grounds.

CHILDREN ON VACATION
DRIVE SLOWLY

The SAAB can do things other cars wouldn't dare do.

On any road, in any weather, SAAB is a more daring car to drive because SAAB has front-wheel drive. The fantastic traction of front-wheel drive lets SAAB hold on to the road for dear life. (Your dear life.)

Other cars don't give you, even as options, all the safety features that are standard in SAAB. For example, roll-bar construction, collapsible steering column, three separate braking systems.

On country roads and on super-highways, SAAB is a safe and daring car. (And SAAB also dares those so-called economy cars to match its low operating cost.) SAAB
